

Investing in Health, Inspiring Hope: Rotary's Commitment to Maternal and Child Health

July – Maternal and Child Health Month

Somphop Thirasan, Assistant Rotary Public Image Coordinator, Zone 10B

"Saving mothers and children is one of Rotary's most vital and visible causes."

Each July, Rotary International draws attention to one of its most critical Areas of Focus: Maternal and Child Health. This global spotlight isn't merely symbolic—it's a rallying call for clubs everywhere to take bold, compassionate action that protects lives and empowers families.

Across Zone 10B and the world, Rotary clubs are implementing high-impact health programs:

- ✓ Mobile clinics bringing prenatal care to remote communities
- ✓ Nutrition education for young mothers
- ✓ Lifesaving vaccines for newborns
- ✓ Access to clean water and hygiene to reduce child mortality

These projects change lives—but their reach multiplies when paired with powerful storytelling and consistent public image efforts.

Why Public Image Matters

Public Image is not about publicity—it's about purpose.

When Rotary clubs tell their story, they:

- Build trust with the community
- ♦ Attract new members and volunteers
- ♦ Inspire donor confidence
- Strengthen Rotary's identity as a global force for good

Every photo shared, every testimonial published, and every media feature aired has the power to magnify impact. When a mother's life is saved, or a child recovers from illness because of Rotary's intervention, sharing that story amplifies our message of hope and service.

- Tips for Clubs This July
- Document your health-related projects with photos and videos
- Interview beneficiaries and volunteers
- Share updates on Facebook, Instagram, or local news
- Use Rotary brand templates and logos
- Partner with local influencers and health organizations
- Be Seen. Be Heard. Be Impactful.

This July, as we serve mothers and children, let us also serve Rotary's story. The more our communities see what we do, the more they understand who we are. And when people see Rotary in action, they are inspired to join, to support, and to believe.

Together, let's heal, help, and highlight. Because when Rotary cares, the world notices.
